It that the evidence shows conclusively to all minds to the relations formed by a number of persons for the purpose of nurdering the said Cronin and concealing his body. Said plot or conspiracy was deliberately contrived and crueily executed.

7. We have carefully inquired into the relations sustained by said Cronin to other persons while alive, to ascertain if he had any quarrels or enmitted with any person sufficient to cause his nurder.

8. It is our judyment that no other person or persons except some of those who are or who had been members of a certain society known as the United Brotherhood, or Clan-na-Gael, had cause to be instigators or executors of such plot or conspiracy to murder said Cronin.

THE CONCLUDING TESTIMONY.

The concluding testimony of the inquest reset to the relations between Croain and Sulan exclusively. The Coroner read telesiams and letters from the private papers of Dr. Croain relating to the trial of Alexander Sullivan for missappropriation of funds. He also read the minority report of the trial committee, dated Philadelphia, January 18, 1889, and signed J. H. McCahey and P. H. Croain. The report blames Alex Sullivan for neglecting the family of Mackey Lamasey, scores Sullivan, Boland and Feeley for excluding C. H. McCarty from the Boston convention, and the for excluding the delegates of the ome organization from the same lace. It was alleged that a report of so for excluding the delegates of the me organization from the same age. It was alleged that a report of e Boston convention showed a deficit of 000 at the instance of Sullivan, when there llywas a balance of $11,000 that was improply spent and not accounted for by the trie; that the men sent to England on "mis" were not sufficiently supplied with y, and the agent of the triangle was reble for this; that $37,191 drawn from the y for "active work" was not used for appose by the triangle, but with surplus y was in the hands of the triangle's not. This report was signed by McCahey de Cronin, with a recommendation that it printed and a copy sent to each camp.

The Coroner then read Dr. Cronin's notes

Grand-jury room and entered on the consideration of the case.

A special Grand jury to deal with the Cronin case was impaneled this morning in Judge Shepard's court. In addressing the jury Judge Shepard's court. In addressing the jury Judge Shepard said that he expected a full, exhaustive, impartial investigation of the murder of Dr. Cronin. The entire resources of the county, he said, would be at the disposal of the jury, and witnesses who would not testify should be made to do so. The Grand-jury had in its possession the power to make them do so.

About noon the Grand-jury adjourned until 2 o'clock. No evidence was heard, but the jury simply organized. Efforts to ascertain the sentiments of Messrs. Quan and O'Neall, the two Irishmen on the special Grand-jury, were not very productive. Well-known gentlemen identified with each wing of the Irish movement were questioned as to Quan and O'Neall. It was generally agreed that the two are of unquestioned good standing in business and social circles and have high reputations as men. Further than this no one whose opinion would carry weight seemed willing to say. The panel as a whole is an excellent one, most of the jurors being prominent business men.

seemed willing to say. The panel as a whole is an excellent one, most of the jurors being prominent business men.

JOHN WALSH, THE FAMOUS INVINCIBLE.

The Herald advances the theory that John Walsh, sometimes known as John Hailey, the famous invincible, had a hand in the murder and that the assassination was ordered from across the water. Walsh was in Chicago several weeks prior to the murder of the doctor. It is not known when he went away. He was seen here at various times until the middle of February. He said nothing about his business. Walsh, accompanied by Phillip McCarthy of Chicago, aided in the escape of the Fenians from Australia in the Catalpa in 1867. Walsh was selected for this dangerous task because of his great strength and iron nerve. When he returned to America he became possessed of the idea that the Irishmen of the world owed him a living and acted accordingly. From that time to the present he has done no manual work. Walsh is an athlete. Although nearly 50 years of age, he does not look to be more than 55. He stands 5 feet 11 inches in height, and can handle an ordinary man with the greatestasse. He was the trusted agent of than 35. He stands of feet 11 inches in height, and can bandle an ordinary man with the greatest ease. He was the trusted agent of the Invinciples. He made several trips to England. When the Clan-na-Gael passed into the hands of the famous triangle Waish was pressed into the service. Acting, it is said, under direction, Waish made a visit to Ireland and England, returning later. While there he went by the name of John Hanley. There is no record of Waish's work for the triangle in the United States, but there are numerous stories which connect his name with the disappearance of many men.

NEW YORK, June 12 .- John J. Maroney and Charles McDonald, the two Clan-na-Gael men who were arrested here yesterdage by Inspection and not accounted for by the trisingle was reble for this; that $87,191 drawn from the yfor "active work" was not used for arpose by the triangle, but with surplus at. This report was signed by McCahey and Cronin, with a recommendation that it be printed and a copy sent to each camp. The Corner then read Dr. Cronin's notes taken at the trial. The objections Alex Sullivan also that they were overruled by the votes of Burns, Rogers, McCahey and Gronin. One witness testified that he was sent to England to do active work, and also that they were overruled by the votes of Burns, Rogers, McCahey and Gronin. One witness testified that he was sent to England to do active work, and was given f4 and a steerage tiekes. He camp back by steerage plank. He went again, and was told to game a propose to be in some way connected with the ment talk with the accused before the plank. He went was not bein plank as the prisoners are positively refused an interview of the chicago and tace the charge of murder which to give his name, called at the Central of the chicago officers which the prisoners. Maroney, it appears to a plank. He went was given f4 and a steerage tiekes. He committee the sealth of the chicago and tace the charge of murder which the serving in the most positive language that the prisoners are positively refused an interview of the chicago and tace the charge of murder which the selection of the chicago and tace the charge of murder which the selection of the chicago officers, he has no power to grant and when he got to England could get no more. He did not use the alias given him by the triangle.

The mysterious man who was taken to prisoners are positively refused an interview of the chicago officers, he had no power to spector Byrnes at the request of the Chicago who was arrested on the supposition that he had committed a robbery.

Marony and McDonald were arraigned in the Tonba Court this afternoon before Justice Hogan. Detective Yon Gerichten asked to have them remanded until to-morrow, when the Chicago detectives would be here. Justice Hogan thought is best to commit them to await requisitions, which is the proceedure under the law. They were held without ball. In a statement to Justice Hogan Maroney said: "I have no hesitation'in going to Chicago, but if I will be permitted to prove an alibi here I would like to de so."

His lawyer here interfered and stopped him talking further.

Dr. O'Reilly on Sullivan.

Dr. Thomas O'Reilly, speaking of Alexander Sullivan this morning, said: "I have known him since 1881 when he began to be him since 1881 when he began to be prominent in Irish affairs. I have entertained him twice at my house and know him quite well. I regard him as a most honorable man, and do not for one moment believe he had anything to do with the murder of Dr. Cronin. Cronin, by charging Sulivan with dishonesty and persisting in his attacks upon Sulivan's character when he could not prove the charges made, a turn a could not prove the charges made, a paturally aroused Sulivan's emaity, but it is not in reason to suppose for an instant that Sulilvan would injure Cronin. He is in't that kind of a man. Unfortunatly for me, I was the cause of their coming to know each other. When Cronin left St. Louis to go to Chicago I gave him letters to Mr. Sullivan's wife is a splendid woman. She is the Associated Press' Paris correspondent, and a good correspondent, too. She writes very well indeed."

THE FOREMAN DEAD DEUNK.

An Unusual Scene in the Criminal Court-

William Andrews Fined, William Andrews is a solicitor living at 20 South Sixth street. He was the foreman of a jury in the Criminal Court. He was and is dead drunk. The case is a funny one. jury was locked up last night hearing the case and ordered to after hearing the case and ordered to bring in a sealed verdict in case they could agree before morning. Accordingly the verdict was rendered and the jury ordered to report at 10 a.m. to-day. Eleven made their appearance at the appointed time, but Andrews, the foreman failed to show up. An attachment was issued and the deputy soon returned from the missing man's home with the information that Andrew's wife had not seen him since yesterday morning. At this Judge Normile waxed wroth but instructed the other members to retire and return at noon. Half an hour afterwards Andrews staggered into the court-room, fell over a bench and announced his presence in a tipsy tone of voice. He was too drunk to comprehend the situation and a deputy put after

OBJECT TO CARNEGIE'S SCALE.

Meeting of the Amalgamated Association of PITTSBURG, Pa., June 12 .- At this morning's session of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers a communication was received from the Homestead Steel-works employes objecting to Carnegie's scale. The matter was referred to the Steel Scale Commuch difference between Carnegie's scale and the one to be adopted by the Amalgamated Association that a settlement will be impossible, and a lock-out may result. The committee on the "Guide Mill" scale recommended a change in the ten-inch mill to $2.90 per ton for 24 iron and upwards to 15, with $3.35 per ton for lighter iron. This is a slight decrease. Cut boops were cut from 50 cents per ton extra to 30 cents, and the basis of the bar mill was made ?2 cents per ton instead of 30 cents as at present.

Bodies Recovered From the Wreck and Many More Buried Under the Debris-One Hundred Passengers Injured -An Alleged Plot to Dethrone Servia's Young King-Foreign News.

DUBLIN. June 12 .- A train containing an excursion party from Armagh has been wrecked near that place. Twenty persons were killed and a number injured. The train contained 1,200 persons, composed of Methodist Sundayschool scholars, their teachers and relatives. They were going on an excursion to Warren Point. The latest report from Armagh says that fifty children were killed by the accident.

Further dispatches from Armagh show that the accident was far more serious than at first reported. Seventy bodies have been taken from the wreck and there are others buried where the party was bound, is a watering County down, Over a hundred passengers

The first floor of the school building was given up entirely to the display of shop work. Commencing at one corner of the room and making a circuit of the room, the courses of the three classes could be followed. First the woodwork of

made in the last few weeks of the course showing a strongly contrasting improvement overliche first rough exercises. All of this work was done in the shops under the direction of George B. Swafford and Edgar L. Brother, the latter a graduate of the school. Following along around the room the series of tables came the wood turning and fitting exercises done also by first year boys. This work comprehends every department of wood turning from the plain, unfinished cylinder to the more delicate pieces of workmanship made of assorted fancy woods and highly finished.

The second-year work is mostly in metal, the boys being given a course in black smithing, patternmaking, molding, soldering and brazing. Here the work showed a gain, as in the first year the course followed by the students, first plain bars of iron beaten out square and round, there complication added on the end, and so on until whole sets of blacksmith's tongs and tools, chains, hooks, hanyers, hammers and other products of the blacksmith's art were collected. Every comelvable object to be made on the anvil could be found somewhere about the collection. Samples of the molding, turning brazing and pattern-making work were also displayed, with the name of the boy making them plainly marked, so that all might compare the results.

A BAID ON THE WHEELS.

-The Prisoners in Court To-Day The tin horn gambler and the tin horse fiend played in hard luck last night. Every wheel n the Central District was "pulled," the proprietors arrested and the "merry-go-rounds" confiscated. The raid was pade promptly at 9 o'clock. A few minutes before that hour a detail of police surround made promptly at 9 o'clock. A few minutes before that hour a detail of police surrounded each establishment and by a preconcerted movement the establishments were closed at the same moment. Each proprietor and his various assistants were placed under arrest. Hundreds of players were in the "whir!," but were allowed to depart. About 9:30 the patrol wagon commenced its work, and load after load of the gamblers was conveyed to the Four Courts. Bond was at once furnished in each case, and the wheel men returned to their dens, only to find the relentless officers packing up and carting off the implements of their nefarious trade. Fifteen of the wheels, each decorated with flags and buntings, were stored over night in the assembly-room of the police headquarters. The cases came up in the First District Police Court this morning, and those against James Williams, Chas. Evans, Lee Bray, Henry Wicks, Chas. Woods, Thos. Cavanaugh, Albert C. Parks, Chas. H. Hamilton, Harry Magee, James S. Rothschild, Peter McCann and Russell Baber were set for hearing on the 19th of June. These men amountine their intention of fighting the case. A noile prosequi was entered in the case against Willie Brown and Vincent Miller. Wm. F. Lane, George K. Dement, Thomas Morgan, Edward Bresnehan, Joe C. Evans, James C. Stanley, Charles C. Carpenter, Wm. H. Kline, Wm. P. Burg, Wm. Shigley, John W. Neff, Thomas Hadden, Lother Broodin, Nathan Stahl, Fred A. Loomis and Wm. Messerman paid the costs of the prosecution and were discharged. These latter at once removed their wheels from the Four Courts and will, in all good faith, fleece the "sucker" at their accustomed haunts this evening.

THIS METHOD of disposing of gambling cases is exceedingly lax, but it is the only thing to be done under the circumstances. The game is played on the same principle as the wheel of fortune, tin horses being placed on the revolving hoop instead of a series of numbers. Chips are sold for 5 cents each, and are cestensibly good for dinks at the bar. In reality they but s tion for the offense is almost impossible.

have been often raided; the proprietors demand a jury trial and are triumphantly acquitted by the verdict of their peers.

The extreme penalty of the law is a fine of $100 and the wheel could well afford such a trifle weeklylf located on good ground. The race meeting seems to nave given the gamblers the tip, and the horse wheels are springing up like mushrooms and flourishing in every part of the city.

WITNESSED BY THOUSANDS. Excursion Trains Run to a Double Hanging at Aberdeen, Miss.

ABERDERN, Miss., June 12.—Sylvester Clark and Harrison Blackburn, the negro murderers of Capt. Patrick Hamilton, met death on the scaffold here yesterday surrounded by a brated case. Just as the old year was dying out on the last day of December, 1888, the two negroes assaulted and killed Capt. Hamilton in his nouse. They were tried and convicted in the Circuit Court on a confession made by Blackburn. The case was taken to the Supreme Court and judgment was there affirmed. Blackburn never denied his guilt, but Clark protested innocence to the last.

Sheriff Marshall, with a military company, escorted the men from the jall to the gallows. While the death warrant was being read Blackburn weakened, and had to be supported by two deputies. Neither had a word to say. Prompt, at 19:30 o'clock the trap was sprung and they had paid the penalty of their crime, which was one of the most horrible ever committed in this State. The bodies hung for thirty minutes and were then out down and turned over to their families.

A few months ago Wellington first met Mrs. Head, who, as Ula Stewart, was one of the belles of Clay Center. She was married nearly two years ago. From her first meeting with Wellington they were a great deal in each other's company, and

HER HUSBAND'S SUSPICIONS being aroused that her conduct was not in conformity with her marriage vows he separated from her. Wellington was warned by his friends that it was to his interest to keep away from Mrs. Head, but he disregarded all such advice and when he reached Clay Center recently on a vacation he made himself con-spicuous in the neighborhood of the doctor's coose and showed to quite a number of his friends endearing letters which he had reeived from Mrs. Head. Yesterday morning, in a spirit of bravado, he stopped Dr. Stewart in the public square and made some remarks to him which incensed the physician so much that he raised his cane and struck at him. On receiving the blow Wellington reached in his hip pocket as if to draw a revolver and at the same time backed off the sidewalk into the street. He no sooner made the suspicious motion than Dr. Stewart drew his weapon and fired, the bullet striking the right ear and lodging on the opposite side.

nor the family knew anything about his fate until they read the published account of the shooting this morning. Miss Hewitt was Wellington's second wife, his first wife, by whom he also had a son, having died previous to the time he came to St. Louis. Wellington is a man of about 35 years of age, and 5 feet 3 inches in height. He was at one time a member of the Chicago Stock Exchange, and after coming to this city he was employed for a time as a book-keeper for Dodd, Brown & Co. A gentleman who was well acquainted with him, speaking about his tragic ending said this morning: "Wellington

Villiam Golts Sues J. L. Grisweld of th A jury was called in Judge Withrow's court room this morning to try the $3,000 damag suit of William Goitz against J. L. Griswold proprietor of the Laclede Hotel. Goltz is german and on the fight of February 5, of this year, attended a lodge meeting down town and after the, meeting he visited a number of salcons in the neighborhood of Sixth and Market streets and drank "three beers," as he claims. He lingered about until it was time for the 10 clock ow! car on the Market street line and then started for Sixth and Chestnut streets, where he intended to board his car. Midway between Market and Chestnut streets, on the east side of Sixth street, is an alley which is the southern boundary of the Laclede Hotel. As Goltz passed this alley a strong wind blew his hat off and it rolled up the dark alley. He chased it, and after capturing it started for the street again, but did not reach it that night. There is a narrow stairway leading down from the alley, along the Laclede Hotel back wall, into the basement of the hotel. An iron railing guards this passageway but somehow it was not seen by Goltz, who said on the stand to day that he bumped against the railing and it gave way precipitating him into the basement, twelve feet below. One rib was broken, his head and back were bruised, and he was rendered unconscious by the fall. This happened at 1 o'clock in the morning and he remained in the wet passage way, unconscious and cold, until 6 o'clock in the morning, when a porter discovered him. He was taken to the Dispensary and then to the City Hospital, where he regained consciousness. He recovered in a few weeks and immediately brought suit, charging Mr. Griswold with negligence in not having a light there or other precaution. Messrs. Gottschalk represent Mr. Goltz and Mr. Laughlin is defending Mr. Griswold. He asked Goltz if he was in a salcon on Market near Seventh street. He said he was.

"Who were in the salcon?" was asked.

The districts in which the election for new directors will be held are as follows First District, comprising the First and Third Wards; Third District, Fifth and Seventh Wards; Fourth District, Fifth and Seventh Wards; Fourth District, Fifth and Twelfth Wards; Sixth District. Ninth and Twenty-third Wards; Tenth District, Eightheant District, Twenty-fifth and Thenth Wards, and Thirteenth District, Twenty-fifth and Twenty-seventh Wards.

Mr. John W. Parle has for many years represented the First Ward in the School Board and will doubtless be re-elected in that district if he is a candidate. Director John Sheahan in the Fifth District and P. J. Kelly in the Tenth Districts.

After the next election the order of succession will be regularly established. Two years later four Directors-at-Large and seven District Directors will go out of office, and in October, 1886, three Directors-at-Large and six District Directors elected next October, will step down and out.

Neither of the political parties are making any arrangements for the approaching election, as they are disposed to leave the selection of candidates to citizens' movements in the various districts.

AN ASTONISHING FREAK OF NATURE, Discovery of a Baby the Exact Counter part of a Fish. By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 12.—A most astonising freak of nature was discovered yesterday by the agents of the Society for the Preventio of Cruelty to Children. Recently the police of the Twenty-second Precinct Station advertised herself as a midwife and kept a lying-in asylum at No. 241 East Eighteenth street, was also dabbling in baby farming without a lieense. The matter was reported to the society and Agents Grant and Gardner raided Mirs. Eppinger's establishment yesterday morning and found several women and three infants in the house. When the officers examined the woman's infant charges they discovered that one of them was almost the exact counterpart of a fish. The head of the child runs almost up to a point at the top. The eyes are very small and extremely close together. The nose is long and sharp and the chin and mouth protrude. The arms are like the fins of a seal and are fastened to the body by tendons. The legs are more perfect and are joined together above the knees by strong membranes. The mother of the child said that before its birth she visited a dime museum and was very much alarmed by the freaks, especially the mermaid. She said the father of the child was a prominent merchant of this city and that she is suing him for damages in the City Court. advertised herself as a midwife and kept a

The High School alumni are said to be organizing to insist on the immediate erection of a grand new High School building. Some good people think the kindergartens are worth more than all the rest of the system, and are not prized by the board as they should be. The advocates of German and the supporters of various fancy studies or fads are on the alert for a cinch on the school management. People who want more holidays and pionics on school days are providing picnic funds, banners and brass bands for every school they can enlist in an open defiance of the board's holiday regulations. All this difference of opinion shows a lively interest in school affairs. But it is to be hoped that none of these agitations will distract the parents and voters of St. Louis from the reform movement which they began when they elected the present board by so large a majority. The central idea and purpose of that reform movement was to restore a fuller enjoyment of their lawful rights to the great multitude of young children of school age who can stay but a few years in the schools, and whose thorough schooling in 'the three R's" is the primary and sacred purpose for which school taxes are col-

The crash of the falling timbers could be heard above the rumbling of the thunder, and in a few seconds the streets were filled with crowds of excited people. A policeman sent out an slarm and in answer to it fire engines and ambulances hurried to the scene. Drs. Eded, Appligate, Griffin and Praeger, who live near by, were soon on hand and directed the search in the ruins.

The party were hidden in the cellar of the building. The floor beams had caught on the front wall of the cellar foundation and had kept the wood and plaster from filling the front of the cellar. This slone saved three men and one boy from instant death. Jenkins and Doremus were the first taken out. Their legs were broken and both were unconscious. An ambulance removed them at once to St. Mary's Hospital. Willie Doescher, aged 8, was next drawn out with broken arms and ribs. Near him was the dead body of his brother Henry, whose skull had been crushed in by a blow from a cross beam. The same beam had hit Frank Masterno and his body was found lying under it. The last man taken from the ruins was the unknown Italian. His skull was fractured and several ribs were broken. He was sent to the Eastern District Hospital. He cannot possibly recover. Mr. Doescher, the owner of the building, said last night that it was one of the strongest frame structures erected in the neighborhood in several years. It cost, he said, about $5,000.

dence on Pine street, No. 3412, with only the relatives and very intimate friends in attendance.

The floral decorations were very elaborate, the dominating feature being the fragrant jassamine and creamy magnolias from the South. In the front parior the bay window was outlined by tall foliage plants, with pedestals on either side, wreathed with smilax and jassamine, and bearing large vases filled with magnolias; from the canopy of jassamine and smilax was suspended a marriage beil of bride's rosse, while the mantelpieces were banked with ferns and magnolias, the whole house being filled with the fragrance of these flowers, sent from the Southern home of the groom.

The bride, a graceful, pretty brunette, wore a very elegant wedding robe of magnolia-tinted faille, made with a long princess train, laid in deep folds from the pointed waist, which was luced up the back. The bodice, pointed in front also and laced, was trimmed with the same fine duches; lace as that which draped the front, two deep flounces covering the tablier and confined beneath the bodice upon the left side. The demi-sleeves were met by long gloves and she wore no ornament except a diamond brooch and earrings presented as a wedding gift by her mother and sister. The veil of tulle was worn without flowers, but in her hand she carried a bunch of illies of the valley and orchids.

She had three bridemaids, Miss Blanche Branconier, Miss Rita Papin and Miss Rose Smith. These young Maies all wore pretty Empire gowns of white crepe, made with soft, full-draped skirts, and girdled about the short waists by broad sashes of white China silk. The groomsmen were Mr. Maclyn Arbuckle, Mr. John Givens and Mr. Al A. Cheney.

Mrs. Branconier, the mother of the bride, wore a very stylish coaching dress of shees of their china clies and presented in harmonizing tones; gloves and hat to match.

the particulars of W. H. Thompson's $31,000 purchase of the premises at the southeast corner of Christy avenue and Eighth street, from P. J. Cunningham and also referred to the improvements contemplated by the pur-chaser, in connection with the value of Christy avenue property as established by sales that have been made during the past eighteen months. As stated in that article, Mr. Thompson bought 44x76 feet 9 inches at the corner, which, added to the parcel of 39 feet 9 inches in the rear of it on Eighth street, with a depth him, gave the banker a total frontage of 115 feet 9 inches on the east line of Eighth street.

To-day these possessions were enlarged by the consummation of another purchase, Mr.
Thompson having secured from Robert and W. Goldstein 45x40 feet next to and adjoining his little lot on Eighth, which gives him a depth of 89 feet from the cast line of Eighth extending along the north side of the wholesale houses fronting on Washington avenue. The price paid for this piece of vacant alley property was $11,000. It was originally a part of the 150-foot premises, owned by Meszrs. Goldstein, with a Washington avenue front, which premises was cut in two, about ninety feet to the rear, by the alley in question, and for that reason was not available for use in connection with the store-houses upon the avenue. As Mr. Thompson's possessions now exist in that locality they partake of the form of the letter L, with a frontage of 44 feet on Christy avenue, the stem extending 115 feet 9 inches along the East side of Eighth with a foot, or depth along the north line of the alley of 89 feet running east from Eighth. Henry Isaacs, it is said, has been engaged to make plans for a suitable building to cover the site, and for which prospective premises there have already been several applicants in wholesale lines.

The essensible lesson given for the calling of the meeting is to devise means by which the city can be protected against floods in the future. However, it is stated that several former residents of this piace are preparing a set of resolutions condemning the South Fork Fishing Club in numeasured terms. An effort will be made by the cooler-headed clitzens to prevent the resolutions from being presented, but the people who have the matter in charge are considerably agitated and there is no telling what the result will be. Sheriff Stineman will be Chairman of the meeting, and when questioned about the probabilities of the denunciatory resolutions being presented, he stated that he had heard such talk, but would do all in his power to have them altogether dropped for the present, as he thought the people here were still too much excited.

JORNSTOWN, Pa., June 12.—Few bodies were recovered this morning owing to the chaotic condition of affairs pending the transfer of authority. Although posters are conspicuously displayed about cailing for men at $1.50 a day to continue work on the ruins there are only about 150 men working and that in a dilatory and half-hearted manner. Four bodies were taken to the First Ward Morgue, none of which were identified, and but one to the Fourth Ward Morgue. At the Kernville and First Presbyterian Church morgues nothing was done. Three bodies were observed in the ruins near where the rink lies a wreck, but there was no effort made to get them out. Laborers almost usan-imously refuse to handle the bodies when discovered, and the men at the morgue were obliged to go after them. To this there is much objection. The undertakers at the two school house morgues are receiving gratuitously, and refuse compensation. They will remain until Gen. Hastings makes arrangements to relieve them. The body-washers will be paid to-day. JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 12.—Few bodies were

The members of the delegation were cordially received by President Harrison, and were with him for twenty minutes or more. The interview was private, there being no persons other than the President and the delegation in the room. Briaf addresses were made by Messrs. Cameron, Brady and Groner, in which the case of the delegation against the management of the party's interest in Virginia by Gen. Mahone was reviewed. The speakers said substantially that as free men they could not submit to the control of the Mahone party in Virginia. It is stated by members of the delegation that in replying to the remarks addressed to him the President said that he did not think it a part of his functions to undertake to settle party disputes; that so far as he was concerned he did not intend to give recognition to any one faction in the party and that he had expressed the same views to a delegation of the Mahone Republicans which called on him yesterday. The President further said that he earnestly desired harmony and party success in Virginia and disclaimed in positive terms that he had ever said that appointments in Virginia should be made only upon Gen. Mahone's recommendation. At the confusion of the President further said that he carnestly desired harmony and party success in Virginia and disclaimed in positive terms that he had ever said that appointments in Virginia should be made only upon Gen. Mahone's recommendation. At the communication addressed to Gen. Mahone, above referred to, has not been answered by him nor its receipt acknowledged.

The silver men are feeling quite jubilant over the opening of the mint at Carson, Nev., where an assayer was appointed by the President yesterday. This office was closed by President Cleveland. It is looked upon as a revival of business in coinage.

Hon. Matt G. Reynolds has secured the appointment of Baker as Postmaster at Rolla. This appointment is secured after a long struggle in which charges and countercharges were brought, none of which ever had any weight. An old poker game is said to have figured in the matter.

An influence has been brought to bear on Gen. Shields, Assistant Attorney-General, to give a chief messenger place at his command to a Kansas City soldier. He has not yet determined what to do, as he had reserved it for Geo. McKean of Independence, who telegraphs that he will write as to whether he will accept it or not. A decision will be made when the letter is reclyed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12 .- The delegation of Virginia Republicans opposed to Gen. Mahone, which was appointed at the intruders from the Umatilia Indian Reserva-tion in Oregon, the Acting Commissioner of Indian Afairs has transmitted a reply from the special agent at the Umatilia Agency stating that on May 23 the last band of sheep and cattle left the reservation "much to the delight of the Indians." In all 40,000 sheep and 10,000 cattle were removed. The acting commissioner further reports that he has instructed the new agent to adopt vig-orous measures to prevent the return of any stock and hereafter to keep all trespassing eattle from the reservation.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. TORONTO, Ontario, June 12.—The convention called sometime ago by the Citizens' Committee of Toronto to protest against the Jamit estates act passed by the Quebec Legislature last year, and to urge its disallowance by the Dominion Government, opened yesterday at the Grand Opera-house. It will last until towhom are in continual attendance. They whom are in continual attendance. They come from all over the province of Ontario and from some sections of Quebec. About half the delegates are clergymen, generally of the Methodist and Presbyterian denomination. The meeting yesterday was presided over by the Rev. Dr. Caven, principal of Knox Presbyterian College of this city. He had been Chairman of the Citizens' Committee which directed the agisation in Ontario. The morning was consumed in speeches from various delegates, while a committee was out arranging the work of the convention for the afternoon and to-day. Two of the members who were among the thirteen who voted at Ottawa last April in favor of the disallowance of the act, as against the 188 who opposed the disallowance, were present and spoke—Col. O'Brien, who moved the resolution in favor of disallowance and James Sutherland. The former has all his life been a strong conservative, and during his parliamentary career has been a supporter of Sir John MacDonaid, but in his speech he declared that he was a man of no party, but was simply a steadfast opponent of the enercachments of Rome in whatever shape they came. The chief representatives from Montreal were Major Bond and the Rev. Dr. Davidson, who both declared the feeling on the part of the Protestants of that province against the Jesuit estates act to be intense. from Montreal were Major Bond and the Rev. Dr. Davidson, who both declared the feeling on the part of the Protestants of that province against the Jesuit estates act to be intense. There was a little breeze during the afternoon over an attempt on the part of one of the delegates to carry a resolution declaring that it was Jesuitism and Romanism that the convention would combat and overthrow. The resolution, however, was laid on the table, it being one of the rules of the day that there should be no speaking or motion against any religious party. From the general tone of the meeting it was evident that the 600 delegates were sincere in their declarations, and that so far as they are concerned in future there will be no member of either party returned who does not promise to resist Roman Catholic encroachments either in Ontario or Quebec. Later in the afternoon strongly worded resolutions were passed denouncing the Jesuits' estates act and calling urgently for disallowance. In the evening, in connection with the same were passed denouncing the Jesuits estates act and calling urgently for disallowance. In the evening, in connection with the same affair, a public meeting was held in the Operahouse, when more speeches were made and resolutions passed. The chief speakers on this occasion were Principal McVickar of Montreal and Mr. Charleton, a prominent Liberal member of Parliament. The last named gentieman condemned the use of two official languages in Cansda. He characterized as absurd the idea that existed in the minds of a few people that a Latin kingdom ought to be founded on the banks of the St. Lawrence. The Anglo-Saxon population of Canada would not stand that, and they were equally indisposed to allow such an infringement upon their rights as had been made in the passage of the Jesuits estates act. All the meetings of the day were most enthusiastic.

It has been decided finally that the Madiso the school, and many of them having children attending it, took the matter in hand and laid out the plans for the day. A vote of the parents of children attending the school was taken and it was found that the majority favored the idea, so the question was considered settled. After the distribution of the diplomas the class hymn was sung. It was written by Miss Caroline Barnard Timany, and the music was by Miss Helen J. Sessinghaus. The words were these:

Yather, thou thus far hast brought us Still protect us by thy care; Kelp us in the life we enter, Keep our feet from every snare. In the world our duties wait us, Tyach us tempting thoughts to quell in the least as in the greatest, Give us courage to do well.

We have utriven after knowledge;
May its light in us increase,
And our erforts well directed Toward attainment never cease,
If bright fortune shine upon us,
Happiness our portion be,
Aim we higher, ever doing
Better in prosperity.

"Drough in the Northwest" is once more the cry of the bulls. It is difficult to diagnose at this date the spring wheat situation of Minnesota and Dakota. From information gathered from reliable sources it must be confessed the spring wheat is not looking particularly brilliant. Some sections are in need of rain, and it must come soon to do any good the partial failure of it, as only the first sowing had moisture enough to cause germination. About 30 per cent is the amount so sown, and it is looking fine to-day. The remainder, comprising some late sown, is not yet covering the ground, and shows some weeds. This is particularly the situation in Southern Minnesota. In the southern half of south Dakota they have had sufficient rain to last for some weeks. All of North Dakota and the north half of South Dakota must have rain at short intervals, otherwise crops will be below an average. The weather is cool, which adds to the safety of the crop under the present of unly wheat in Chicago are breeding a seab that will worry 'em dreadfully,' is the way a certain trader put it. On a short crop of hogs, receipts to-day of 30,000 head in Chicago, 18,000 in Kanasa City, 10,000 in Omaha and upwards of 6,000 in St. Louis appear to be a 'right smart' number of hogs. IMMENSELY PROFITABLE ONE. There are but few branches of business, in-deed, so profitable as that of making castor oil, and to that reason is ascribed the fact that there has been so much difficulty in controlling prices by means of pooling arrangements. The price of the seed has been about $1.50 a bushel on an average for years, while the price of the oil has been over 150 and as high as 16c, and not lower than 12c a pound. The former price is the one ruling now, and on that basis the crushers have a profit of 4 cents a pound, with a yield of six-teen pounds to a bushel of seed. The refuse of the seed in crushing, which is sold for fertilizing purposes, pays all of the expenses of crushing and handling. The capital required also is small, banks readily a tvancing within 10 cents on the bean value. The gain to be made has thus invited unany people to go into it. Mr. Frank Ring of this city has gone into it several times and sold his seed to the pool and agreed to shut down. On the last saie he was bound not to crush seed again for five years. His crusher, however, was leased to R. D. Kirlepatrick of Osage Mission, Kan., and he organized the Kansas Castor Oil Co. and has been active in business ever since. His company has been the of the seed in crushing, which is sold for

Osage Mission, Kan., and he organized the Kansas Castor Oil Co. and has been active in business ever since. His company has been the THORN IN THE SIDE OF THE POOL, and they have adopted avery means to get him into their organization, but he steadily refused to listen to all propositions. He had an advantage that none of the other competitors had had. The bean crop runs only 250,000 to 300,000 bushels, and the pool had always been able to furnish seed and buy in the crop in advance. The year before Mr. Kirkpatrick went into the business, however, he placed nimself on as good footing as the pool so far as seed is concerned. He was raised in that portion of Illinois known as Egypt, and has lived for years in Coffeeville and desage Mission, Kan. All friends and connections are all thus located in the heart of the bean country, and when he started out a year in advance to buyjseed he of course found many farmers who preferred to sell to him. The last year's crop, for instance, was a short one, only about 125,000 bushels, and of this Mr. Kirkpatrick secured 40,000 bushels, leaving only 85,000 bushels to all of the other crushers in the country, all of which are in the pool. He is now crushing the last of these and will be compelled to shut down his mill within a few days. The others, however, bave been able to run but a short time, the Collier, of this city, having had to shut down some time ago, and having been a purchaser instead of manufacturer of oil. Recently, however, while he still refused to enter the pool, he consented to make an AGREEMENT AS TO PRICES, and since he weakened so far as to do that such pressure has been brought to bear on him that it is said he has consented to make an AGREEMENT AS TO PRICES, and since he weakened so far as to do that such pressure has been brought to bear on him that it is said he has consented to make an AGREEMENT AS TO PRICES, and since he weakened so far as to do that such pressure has been brought to bear on him that it is said he has consented to make an AGREEMENT AS TO

A Wanderer Returns Home to Claim Hi Share of a Fortune.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 12 .- Thirteen died and bequeathed all his property to his wife, three sons and a daughter. One of the sons. Edward, had several years before gone West in search of a fortune and had not been heard of for many months. He was advertised for, but no clue was discovered. Then a report came that he had been killed, and later this report was confirmed by the return of a neighbor who had been West. Steps were then taken to dispose of his estate. An administrator was chosen and he divided the property left by Edward when he went West, and also that bequeathed him by his father. It was supposed that was the end of the matter, but the missing man suddenly returned to the old home last week. He had not been killed, but had continued his search for fortune, which, however, he did not find. At last, weary of wandering, he returned home, and it was a hearty welcome that was extended him. The heard of for many months. He was adver earty welcome that was extended him. The hearty welcome that was extended him. The joy continued but a few days. The wanderer put in a claim for the property that he had left behind and also for his share of his father's estate, which the brothers and sisters had so long held as their own. They are reductant to make restitution, and there is every prospect of a long legal contest.

The Country Members of the St. Louis Mill. ers' Association "Holding the Bag," With No Wheat to Grind or Flour to Sell-The Receivers and Commission Men Donning Their War Paint.

HILE law officers and merchants are considering the standing of business organization and consolidations and while the regular reports show the stock of flour in the hands of other than retail sellers in the United States is larger than a year ago, the condition of the flour bustness in St. Louis will be

The college hall where the exercises took place was prettily decorated with evergreens and flowers, and ten young graduates in their simple costumes formed a pleasing picture as they filed in and took their seats upon the platform beside Dr. Irwin, the President, Rev. Dr. S. J. Niccolls of St. Louis, and other members of the Board of Trustees. The following are the graduates and the subjects of their essay:

EFFECT OF A SEMI-TRUST.

been very effective is shown by the statements made, and the fact that the city millers now practically have everything in their own hands so far as the better grades of flour, the bulk of their product, are concerned. The association was the outgrowth of an organization effected among the local millers, and the latter was formed because of the paralysis that had attacked of the paralysis that had attacke the milling trade here, and the fact that com the milling trade here, and the fact that com-petition and the prevailing tendency toward speculation had just about taken away all profits. The first thing accomplished was to provide some system for doing business, par-ticularly as to oredits, and then the fixing of local prices was attempted, in connection with mills in local tributary country. From this local organization, which was merely an agree-ment, it was but a step to the central millers' association, and soon after it was perfected it began to swallow up mills by sections and local organizations in all parts of the winter wheat country. The machinery was soon oiled up and placed in good working order, and the controlling of the market and the regulation of the supply to as near the demand as possible was begun. It had always before been impossible to effect an organization of millers, for anything more than social purposes or for minor business objects, but this one proved to have overcome all obstacles. There has been agreat deal of quarreling and considerable bickering over small points; but that it has been successful is shown by the steady reduction in the stocks here to its present low point, as follows, the figures being taken from December 1, 1888, as it was just about that time that the association became effective. The stock then was 197 240 barrels. On January I it had been re-CENTRAL MILLERS' ASSOCIATION.

here to its present low point, as follows, the figures being taken from December 1, 1888, as it was just about that time that the association became effective. The stock then was 127,240 barrels. On January 1 it had been reduced to 99,670 barrels, on February 1 to 74,850, on March 1, to 69,080 barrels, on April 1 to 59,120 barrels and on May 1 to 42,600 barrels. The plan of working has been to meet and make suggestions to the members of the association generally to half the time for a certain period, or to run only half time, and thus reduce the product. Then a minimum price was fixed, adjusted as nearly as possible to localities and local mills, below which price the members of the association could not sell. This was sustained for some time, or until, as the country millers say, the country was robbed of its wheat, which came to the large centers to find a market and storage. The minimum was then removed, so that the association is not now in direct conflict with the anti-trust law, though the city members are now reaping the benefits of it. The country members, however, are in position to hold the traditional bag. Their mills are generally shut down, and while the city members have considerable difficulty in getting wheat, the country ones are experiencing an absolute famine, so far as wheat is concerned, and so far from having stocks to take advantage of the present strong market and advancing prices they have only fag ends and odd lots, and those largely of low grades. This condition of affairs has bers. As yet no concerted action has been taken, but that there will be before long there is but little doubt. At present the only efferts being made are toward exciting the jealousy of country millers whose mills are shut down, by sending them reports of the strength of the market, and asking them to ship in all the flour they can to take advantage of it. This is regarded as probably the strongest weapon they could employ, and they are using it as freely as possible. In the meantime the association is doubtful whether it can maintain an existence under the law, and is taking legal advice on the subject in order to have the question settled by the time the mills begin to run on the new crop of wheat. It is then desired to resume the fixing of a minimum price of all grades of flour, and to control the supply by the same means as last year.

EETTING ON TO-DAY'S RACES.

At the Southern Hotel the betting on the races run this afternoon was as follows:

First race, purse, five-eighths of a mile—Mary Mailoy, 103, $30; Grace Ely, 110, $23; The Moor, 106, $21; Lena Ban, 115, $15; Last Chance, 106, $51, Lottie S., 103, $51; Hualpa, 106, $5. Second race, selling purse, one mile—Lotton 107, $60; Big Brown Jug 110, $25; J. T. 105, $40; the Elk 97, $25; Frederick 109, $31.

Third race, Bankers' and Brokers' stakes, one and one-eighth miles—Bravo 127, $115; Le Premier 112, $85; Girondes 122, $55; Unlucky 122, $50; Josie M. 117, $46.

Brat race, the Sale and Livery Stable purse of $500, one mile, there were four starters, Irene, Mollie McCarthy's Last, Fanchette and Serenader. The old blind mare, Irene, who surprised the knowing ones last Friday, won by a half a length from Mollie McCarthy's Last, the favorite, who was second, Fanchette being third and Serenader last. Time, 1:48½. The winner had been purchased by Seroggin Brothers for $1,000 and carried their colors, McLaughlin having been enagged to ride her.

third. Time, 1:22. Gladstone, Fontoun, Heiena and Gov. Ross were the other starters.

The St. Louis Brewers' Stallion Stakes, for 2-year-olds, with $1,500 added, three-quarters of a mile, introduced to the public Mr. Theodore Winters' coit, El Rio key, a full brother to the Emperor of Norfolk and The Czar. He is a magnificent looking rich chestnut, and proved himself a worthy relative of his great brothers, for he won his race in a gallop in 1:22. Swifter, under whip, finished second, a length and a half back, and Santiago, third, was three lengths farther off, Good Bye bringing up the rear. Mr. Winters has a yearling and a suckling, who are full brothers to the Emperor of Norfolk, the Czar and El Rio Rey.

The selling purse of $400, six furlows, was won by Lakeview, Lotton being second and Madolin third. Time, 1:18%. The other starters were: Mirth, St. Ledger, Himan, Harrisburg, Johnny Brooks, Ed Butts, Tom Tinker, Mark Twain and Holloway.

Marchma won the Mechanics' purse of $600, one mile and one furlong, in 2:0%, Comedy being second and Los Angeles, the favorite, third. Alphonse, Rol d'Or, Albert Stull and Jim Nave were the other starters.

Did you see Ike Murphy ride at the track yes terday? Did you see him make a monkey of Santiago in the Brewers' Stake, and also a santiago in the Brewers' Stake, and also a monkey of the people who were fools enough to bet on Santiago against that magnificent coit, El Rio Rey, just because Murphy had the mount on him? Did you see him try to ride los Angeles in the last race? and did you notice how near he came to not doing it? If you saw this and had no money on Santiago or of Los Angeles you had lots of tun. It was the lunniest riding ever seen on the track. Murphy's actions in the Santiago race were such at the zotte universal attention. When later he rode out on Los Angeles for the one and ne-quarter miles he was closely watched and everybody was then sure that Ike was out of condition. He rode up in front of the club-house and ogled the ladies on the balcony. He stayed there, engaged in that pleasant cocupation, seeming not to care that the starting point was just half a mile away until some sharp ringing of the bell at the judges' stand recalled him to his senses. Then he swung down in front of the stand and alternately pulled the mare and wilipped her as he canised down to the starting point. The whole stand knew and said what was the matter—the the crack lockey. It was known before race. It eased up betting on Los Angeles, used lots of the plunging that was done archma. It also made lots of people disisted and some of them made enough to kick e dusky rider all over the track. nonkey of the people who were fools enough

In all probability Terra Cotta will be sent East to run in the Suburban. Pinkle T. and Armour, R. Tucker's 2-year-olds, were sold to Eugene Leigh of Chicago for $500 each.

Valuable, Frank-Harper's mare whose rac-ing qualities was leased to the Beverwyck stables, broke down completely yesterday and was sent back to Kentucky.

Three days stra racing will be given next week by the St. Louis Jockey Club. As this clashes with the dates of the Kansas City Association, which is also a member of the Turi Congress, there is apt to be trouble. Huntress was favorite in a race to-day. When she lost last week, a bookmaker claimed she had been pulled. George Covington was called into the judges' stand and questioned and the trainer of the Chicago stables, who was very indignant, offered to face any bookmaker or anybody else and disprove the charge. He says the mare has not been in good shape for running and is rated too high anyhow by the betting public.

The League and Association Baces. The two surprises of the year in the base ball way have been the Cleveland Club in the League and the Kansas City team in the Association, particularly the former, which now sis among the entries are the cracks. Starter Caldwell and Penn F., both of whom will very likely start. So may Watterson, Santiago, Amigo and several others, there being diffy-one entries in the stake. The programme for the day is as follows:

IS IT NOT LIKELY THAT ST. LOUIS IS GET-TING TOO MUCH OF IT?

Wood Working Its Way Into Popular Favor -A Substitute Needed for Noisy Stone Particularly in the Residence Districts-

St. Louis has gone into the granite pavement very extensively, and has now about forty miles of streets paved with granite. The question which presents itself at this time is the following: "is there not imminent danger of the granite paving being overdone, and cannot a good substitute for granite be found?" This question was submitted to the members of the Board of Public Improvethe members of the Board of Public Improvement, nearly all of whom have made a careis study of the street paving question. All who has the direct control of all matters concerning streets, paving and repairing, said:

"I don't think that we have too much granite paving in this city and we can in certain localities stand a little more, but the paving with granite can very easily be overdone. As far as our experience here shows, we find that granite is the best thing for very heavy traffic in the busiest part of the city; and out of over three hundred miles of streets we have but a little over forty of granite, which just about covers the heavy traffic streets of the city. Outside the business streets we should not lay a single block of granite. Wood, Telford and perhaps asphalium should be amply qualified to fill all the requirements. Take the wood blocks, especially cedar: Chicago has miles and miles of other towns also use locks and find them esatisfactory.

before the incontrovertible evidence of the practical results achieved with wood, asphaltum, gravel and other paving material. The thinking public is beginning to see that streets can be paved so that the unearthly clatter of passing teams and the wear and tear on the animal and vehicle can be greatly obviated. Experiments have been tried with an infinite variety of substances both in a natural state and mixed with others to form compositions of various kinds. The result of the experimenting has been to narrow down the choice of substances to six different materials, stone or granite, wood of two or three varieties, compositions known as asphaitums and proken stone with gravel finishes.

hos grown very popular in the last few years and has proved to be very successful as far as wear and cost are concerned but then objections of all kinds have been found and ralsed against it. The wear on horses and wehicles is very great, and the noise is out of all proportion to the advantages derived. Wood has been tried and a pavement of sawed blocks laid on end upon a firm, hard concrete has met the requirements. Much to the gratification and surprise of the experimenters it was found that the wood was lasting and compared to granite hand although the necessities for repairs occur oftener than on granite to be different than on granite the difference is selected and although the necessities for repairs occur oftener than on granite the difference is substances to six different materials, stone or granite, wood of two or three varieties, compositions known as asphaitums and proken stone with graveling the strength of the contract for the granite construction. said: "You can't generalize much on this street paving question as there are so many important points to consider, such as locality, formation of the soil and the demands of traffic. Some streets must be made of the most substantial material to be found and the one point, strength and wearing qualities considered. In other places comfort is a factor and still in others all that is desired is an easy, smooth driveway. I still to a certain extent cling to the old idea of stone for such streets as Third street, Clark avenue and those on which heavy tesming predominates, but I do think that it is very easy to carry the granite paving too far and am decidedly in favor of putting down wood wherever it can stand the wear. Take this city. My plan would be to pave the center where all the hard work is done with granite as it is now. Around this lay a belt of wood and ontside of that lay Telford macadam and gravel. Through these outside belts I think it would be advisable to lay a granite street or two along the main arteries of heavy travel, as, for instance, along Broadway to Carondelet, where the heavy hauling from the suburbs is done. Granite should not be used unless absolutely necessary, and wood should be used more than it is. The qualities of wood for paving material are far ahead of what they are generally supposed to be, and in certain streets in London, where traffic is itenvier than anything we have here, wood is being used with success. The whole subject calls for a great deal of careful consideration."

While in St. Louis Mr. and Mrs. Murphy stop at the residence of Henry Bridge-water, the well-known colored sport. There is considerable difference in Murphy's appearthe animal he appears a fair height and he looks extremely short and rather broad. In fact, the change is so marked that few people who see him ride recognize him in his civilian attire when they meet him afterward. It is a common thing for him to sit in the stand with his wife and hear the comments made on his riding by the people around, who have no idea that the little man beside them is the great jocky whom they are discussing. There is nothing of the sport about Murphy's appearance. He dresses most plainly and while he wears a collar seldom takes the trouble to put on a tie. collar seldom takes the trouble to put on a tie. At times, however, he appears in gorgeous array, but that is only on special occasions.

"Murphy," remarked a POST-DISPATCH representative to him, "how did you come by a name so unusual for a colored man?"

a name so unusual for a colored man?"

"I don't know, but I suppose through some man who owned my ancestors when they were slaves. You know in slavery days colored men generally took the names of their owners. My grandfather's name was Murphy. My full name is Isaac Burns Murphy. I was called after an uncle who, I understand, lives somewhere in the country in the neighborhood of St. Louis. I never saw him, however. His name is Isaac Murphy. Then there is a brother of my father, James B. Murphy, who lives in this city. My middle name I get from my father. His name was Jeremiah Burns Murphy. There is certainly enough Irish about that."

"When did you commence riding?"

"I was born in the city of Lexington and raised there and in Cincinnati. I never had anything to do with horses until 1974, when I commenced to learn the business with J. T. Williams of Lexington, Ky. At that time the firm was Williams & Owens. I was a stable-boy and my first mount was in 1875, when I rode Lady Greenfield at Louisville in a mile heat race and was shut out in the first heat. She did not belong to my employers. Then I rode in a few other races, but did not have at least, I den't call it riding. I keep feeling my horse to see how fresh he is and gauge my riding by how I find him and the other-horses in the race. You must not ride your horse right out, but sometimes you have to go to the front. If you find a horse has more speed in him than your mount you must go to the front and force the pace, so as to get all this run out of the other horse before the stretch is entered. Your riding of a horse depends entirely about the way he and the other horses are going, and it is the use of judgment that makes the jockey. I think I can ride just as well in a short race as in a long one if my horse is a good starter. Of course, a bad starter is a big disadvantage in a short race."

earned in a season?"

HIS EARNINGS.

"I don't know exactly. Three or four seasons I have made between $13,000 and $15,000. Mr. Baldwin pays me $10,000 a season and also the regular price of $25 for every winning and $16 for every losing mount. Besides I can ride for outside parties when not engaged in a race for him. Where I cannot get down to the weight for his horse and there is another horse in the race at whose weight I can ride I have the privilege of riding against Mr. Baldwin, and I ride just as hard against him as I do against anybody else."

Murphy has considerable difficulty in getting down to riding weight. He weighed 135 pounds last winter, but by the opening of the season had himself down to riding weight. He has pulled down as much as ten pounds. He has trouble holding himself there. Every morning he goes out to the stables and exercises the horses. It gets him used to the author in a day and has often taken off five to the stables and exercises the horses. It gets him used to the author in a day shifts and weight from three to five miles, getting himself in a thorough sweat. When he returns to the stable he is rubbed down thoroughly, takes a bath and rests for a while until cooled off.
